MILITIA AND MOB BATTLE FOR PRISONER

Enraged by the Death of Six Men Armed Mountaineers Go to Lexington to Lynch Man Convicted of Murder

Machine Guns Bark As Crowd of 4000 Try to Storm Jail; Fifteen Are Wounded As Jury Finds Guilty Verdict

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 9.—Enraged by the killing of six persons who took part in an effort today to lynch William Lockett, negro, convicted of slaying Geneva Hardman, 19-year-old schoolgirl, hundreds of armed mountaineers are on the way here with the intention of taking possession of the negro in spite of the national guardsmen, according to reports received by the police.

On his request 400 regular army troops from Louisville, under the command of Major F. C. Martin, left Camp Taylor for this city today. The soldiers are expected this afternoon.

Authorities announced the following list of dead:

B. F. Carrier, Lexington.
John Thomas, Versailles.
William L. Linton, Versailles.
J. M. Rodgers, Lexington.
Unidentified negro woman.

Several of the wounded are expected to die.

MOB LOOTS SHOPS TO SECURE WEAPONS

The mob is now looting pawnshops. Sixty-two revolvers were taken in one place. An attack on the troops is feared by the authorities.

In addition to the six persons killed, 15 were wounded when the soldiers fired into the mob, the authorities ascertained later.

While soldiers were driving back the mob of 4000, which demanded the surrender of Lockett, the negro was found guilty of murder and was sentenced to be electrocuted.

The Hardman girl's body was found in a field near her home late Friday. Examination disclosed she had been attacked and murdered. Bloodhounds put on the trail led officers to Lockett.

Rumors of the attempts at lynching spread rapidly. Fayette county officials and a company of State militia from Latonia was rushed to Frankfort Sunday to escort Lockett to the courthouse at Lexington.

Machine guns were mounted to sweep approaches to the courthouse and overseas soldiers with steel helmets were on guard when court opened this morning.

The mob gathered slowly. When about 4000 were in the square in front of the courthouse a voice shouted, "Let's go now."

The crowd surged to the steps of the courthouse. A deputy sheriff arrested one of the leaders and led him away. Officers with pistols threatened to shoot if necessary.

The rioters came on and tried to wrest guns from the militia. Then the order to fire was given.

Three men fell dead on the courthouse steps. Others carried them to the rear. Another fell as the struggle continued.

Machine guns barked and the crowd broke for cover. Meanwhile the trial of Lockett was proceeding in the courtroom. In fifteen minutes he was sentenced to death on March 17.

Lockett's life was saved last week when Governor Morrow, hearing of the formation of a mob in Lexington, took charge of the penitentiary at Frankfort, where the negro was brought for safekeeping.

Ordering deputy sheriffs to guard all approaches to the penitentiary, Morrow sent Sheriff Bain of Frankfort county toward Lexington with instructions to prevent the mob's entering the State capital.

The sheriff met the mob in automobiles on the outskirts of the city and on a hill overlooking the prison. Making his own automobile crosswise in the street, Bain persuaded the crowd to return to Lexington, thirty miles away. A few overenthusiastic members of the mob were arrested but released when they agreed to return.

CITY OFFICIALS INITIATE FIGHT ON PROFITEERING

Initial steps in a drastic municipal campaign to curb profiteering in the necessities of life were taken today by city officials when provision was made for a local bureau of complaints and for the submission of evidence to the government authorities.

The first step in the campaign was in form of a resolution presented by City Attorney H. L. Hagan, following an investigation of the question, placing the matter of profiteering in the necessities of life under the jurisdiction of Commissioner F. F. Morse. The resolution prepared by Hagan was laid before the council for a vote by Commissioner Morse and was adopted by a unanimous vote without comment by the council members.

WIDOW LOSES LIFE AS HOTEL FLAMES CUT OFF ESCAPE

Scores of Trapped Tenants in Burning Building Taken Out With Ladders or Leap Into Fire Nets

MANY HEROIC RESCUES ARE EFFECTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Following a search of the Berkshire apartments at Sutter and Jones streets, Fire Chief James Murphy this noon announced with certainty that but one life had been lost in last night's disastrous and spectacular fire. Close to a half hundred were injured.

The sole victim in a blaze in which daring rescues were effected with every minute in which for a time it was thought certain that scores of persons would be trapped, was Mrs. Mary E. Donoho, 60 years, a widow, who occupied apartment 410. Her body was found at the head of the stairs on the fourth floor of the building.

The flames were discovered last evening when Paul Tedow, one of the tenants of the building, entered the place in time to meet a woman who was rushing out and shouting that the place were on fire. So quickly did the blaze spread there was only time to notify by the inter-communicating telephone but thirteen out of the seventy-five occupied apartments. There were 150 to 175 persons in the building at the time of the fire.

Working with precision in the face of a blast of heat that overcame many of their men, the firemen placed ladders against the burning walls and brought down half-hundred persons. Others jumped into fire nets and were saved.

With the fire raging in the center of the building and forcing all of those inside to the windows and narrow ledges the firemen were not able to direct the swift streams of water against the structure until the rescue work was accomplished. It was said by one of the firemen that the building would be destroyed long before after another sounded until five had been turned in.

Truckman Edward Dullen, sprained arm and breast, not seriously hurt. Mrs. Martha A. Nash, 70, of apartment 510, seriously burned. She was visiting her sister, Miss Fidelia Jewett, in apartment 512 when the fire broke out.

Miss Jeannette Geddes, jumped from window to alley. Thought to have suffered internal injuries and taken to hospital.

Mrs. R. E. Doble, overcome by smoke. She was rescued by her husband, who carried her on his back to a window and threw her into a fire net below. Doble then leaped in herself.

Thomas Matiev, fireman, cut on right arm by flying glass. Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Page of Fremont, slightly burned and overcome by smoke. Will recover.

Captain William McGill, engine 29, cuts and lacerations. Thomas Jones, engine 29, lacerations.

Jack Flynn, cuts and bruises; fell from ladder while fighting fire. Louis Hiltz, patrolman, gas asphyxiation.

Mrs. A. R. Cook, smoke suffocation. Mrs. Mary Ford, suffocation. Mrs. E. G. Dudley, suffocation and bruises.

Mrs. Mildred Snyder, severe burns and shock. E. J. Snyder, Dr. Lillian Martin, Miss Lucile Jewett, Theodore Levy and Miss Violet Groce.

A half score of the injured sustained their hurts in falls from fire escapes.

E. J. Dudley, contusions. There are thought to be close to a half hundred others who were slightly hurt and who are being cared for in apartments in the neighborhood of the fire.

Rescued without injury W. S. Wauthy Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Jones and James Rolland, all occupants of apartment 517, were trapped on the fifth floor until firemen placed a ladder against their window. They escaped with no serious injuries.

Mrs. J. E. O'Neal of Chicago jumped into a vacant lot and escaped injury. Arthur Callahan, sailor, was hemmed in on the fourth floor and saved himself for lost when firemen rescued him. He then turned in and helped save a number of others.

Mrs. O. Pratt and nephew, Harry, assembly has not yet ratified the agreement.

BOARD ENDS FIGHT OVER BOUNDARIES

The dispute among the taxpayers of Valle Vista, Alvarado and Eureka school districts over a change in boundary lines so as to permit certain children living in the Alvarado and Eureka districts to attend school in the Valle Vista district has been settled.

The presentation of a petition to that effect caused a heated dispute before the Board of Supervisors a week ago, during which the heaviest of the district's taxpayers were forced to demand the elimination of personalities before quiet was resumed.

According to the agreement reached among the disputants, the lines will remain as they are until next fall, when new boundaries, different from those suggested in the petition, will be substituted. In the meantime the Valle Vista school trustees agree to permit the children in question to continue their attendance at that school.

It had been planned to put through the requested change at today's meeting, and Chief Deputy District Attorney T. P. Wittichen had prepared a resolution to that effect, but it was found that the change, while adding a comparatively large number of children to Valle Vista's allotment, left out the most valuable property for assessment purposes in the section. It was conceded that it would be unfair to Valle Vista to impose the extra burden on the district and not provide means for meeting it financially.

While the new pupils would give the district about $50 additional from the State school funds, a new teacher would be required, whose salary would be at least double that amount. The new district lines will be arranged so as to include more valuable property in Valle Vista.

Woman Killed, Many Hurt In Apartment House Fire

Mrs. M. jumped into firemen's net from first floor.

The Berkshire was owned by L. S. Sly and was under the management of Mrs. Thibault. No estimate was made today as the property was lost.

Many of the windows this morning indicated that the trapped tenants used their own life-saving devices in escaping from the building. Twisted sheets many feet long hung from the windows and by this means scores of persons had been lowered to the street.

Last night the windows and ledges of the upper floors were choked with scores of men and women frantically calling on the firemen in the street below for help. As no sheet or other means were available, belief grew that many of them were burned to death.

The fire started in a store room of the basement and spread quickly to the adjoining floors and in a few minutes had reached the roof. The flames made a huge torch which the firemen were unsuccessful in combating. This morning the shell of the building was standing.

Before squads of firemen and police entered the building at daylight it was believed that more than a score of persons had been trapped in the upper floors of the five-story structure and burned to death.

It was worse even than any individual fire during the holocaust of 1905, declared First Assistant Chief Engineer Boden. "It was the worst I ever fought in my twenty-five years' experience."

FIFTY BODIES HANGING TO LEDGES BY HANDS

Boden, who was the first fireman to reach the flaming building, told a gripping story of what he saw.

"I found fifty persons clinging to fire escapes and window ledges in a big light well at the rear of the building," he said.

"They were screaming, 'Save me! Save me!' It was like a madhouse. Some were actually hanging by their hands, ready to drop when we arrived. Others were lying flat upon

NORTH KOREA IS IN REVOLT; JAPAN QUILTS

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Northern Korea has been evacuated by the Japanese, it is claimed in a wireless message from Moscow today, quoting an Omsk message. The population rose to aid Korean forces from Chinese territory, it is declared.

The Omsk message, as given to the Russian wireless, says that on Feb. 6 bands of Koreans raised in Chinese territory crossed the frontier and attacked the Japanese. Masses of the population are joining the insurgents, it is added, the Japanese retreating and evacuating Northern Korea.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Official dispatches received here today said a force of 2000 Koreans, armed principally with equipment furnished by the Bolsheviks, crossed into Northern Korea from China, Manchuria, and attacked a Japanese post of 700 at night, killed 300 of them and routed the remainder.

According to these despatches, the attack was the initiation of an active rebellion in Korea. It was described as "the beginning of a tremendous affair."

WOMEN VOLUNTEERS TO CARE FOR FIRE VICTIMS

In the work of giving aid to the rescued tenants of the burning place, residents of fashionable hotels and apartments nearby took a prominent part. Women organized into volunteer relief corps and provided clothing for the scores of half-dressed men, women and children. Hot coffee, welcomed as a stimulant and for its reaction against the strong north wind, was served to the rescued apartment dwellers and to the firemen and police.

Never was a crowd more appreciative of the work of firemen and volunteer rescue workers. Time and again shouts went up as a swinging ladder touched the side of the building long enough for a man or woman to make his way to safety, and time and again the thousands who watched held their breath in apprehension as a figure leaped from heights to be caught in the nets on the street below.

The identification of Mrs. Donoho was made this morning by Mrs. Eola Cyrus, 64 Hartford street, who had been assisting her in secretarial work. It was made certain by a locket and gold ring. Mrs. Donoho was a native of Oregon and a widow. For the past twenty-nine years she has been the secretary of the Rebekah Assembly of the I. O. O. F. A daughter, Mrs. David C. Babcock, survives.

WOMAN FORMERLY AT STANFORD AMONG RESCUED

Dr. Julian Martin, one of those rescued from the fire, is a former professor of psychology at Stanford. She figured in a heroic role when she dragged Mrs. Martha C. Nash, aged 70, to a fire escape and sent her to safety.

Nash's sister, Miss Fidelia Jewett, Patrolman W. F. Bennett and Richard Garrick saved twenty or more persons when they tore holes through a ten-foot fence on the east street side of the building and were thus enabled to put ladders up to clinging persons who had all but given up hope of escape. The two patrolmen were showered with bricks and glass when an explosion tore away a part of the roof.

"I'm going to get a tent and move out on the beach," said young Jack Farrar, who rescued his sick wife from the building. It was only six weeks ago that they lost everything they owned in the New Westminster Hotel fire in Los Angeles. Yesterday they celebrated their first wedding anniversary.

Health Boards Give Warning of Influenza Danger

Ask People to Be Careful and Take Proper Treatment Promptly. Many Pneumonia Cases Follow Influenza. What to Do.

To be prepared for the serious outbreaks of Influenza and Pneumonia that are now sweeping over the entire country and that have seized on this community Public Health Boards everywhere are issuing cautions and instructions to the public not to neglect treatment at the first symptom of a cold and to co-operate with the board and physicians in stamping out the spread of the disease.

No disease develops so quickly or spreads so rapidly. The first symptoms usually is a sharp rise in temperature to 102 or 104 degrees, headache, pain in the back, throat feeling dry or sore. Unless promptly checked by proper treatment, the best plan is to go to bed and stay there for at least a week, keeping warm to avoid pneumonia and let the minor ailments run its course and also prevent the spread of the disease to others.

Most of us in these busy days, cannot afford, if it can be avoided to leave a week or more of work, so it is all the more necessary that at the very first sign of grip or influenza a counter-acting treatment should be taken. Probably no better or more effective treatment could be followed at such a time than to get from the nearest drug store a complete Hyomei outfit consisting of a bottle of the pure Oil of Hyomei and a little vest-pocket, hard rubber inhaling device into which a few drops of the oil are poured.

Put the Inhaler in your mouth and breathe its air deep into the passages of your nose, throat and lungs. Every particle of air that enters your breathing organs will thus be charged with an antiseptic germ-killing bacterium that will destroy the germs that have found lodgment there.

You can do this one often. The Hyomei Inhaler is small and can be conveniently carried in a handbag or in your vest-pocket. Every half hour or so throughout the day take it out and draw a few breaths of its pure healing air into your nose and throat. Relief comes almost instantly. Throat conditions become normal and you soon are feeling fine. The outfit is not at all expensive for the rubber inhaler with last a lifetime while the Oil of Hyomei can be obtained at little cost from any reliable druggist. Lots of people already have a Hyomei Inhaler. Take it out, draw a few breaths of it without delay. If you haven't one get it today.

A few cents spent now may easily prevent serious illness and save you many dollars and help stamp out the spread of the disease.—Advertisement.

Inventor of Barbed Wire, J. C. Merrill, Hayward, Dies

John Calvin Merrill, who invented the barbed wire fence 52 years ago, is dead in Hayward today at the age of 84 years. He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hattie Pimental, yesterday.

Merrill won two historic and bitter suits in the State courts of Iowa 50 years ago, based on his claims as inventor of the fence.

Merrill was living near Dubuque, Iowa, when he made his discovery. According to his story, he found considerable trouble in keeping the pigs on his ranch within bounds and finally hit upon the idea of putting barbs in the fence.

The idea was not patented at the time. It was found so practicable that other farmers began to use it and Merrill decided to patent it.

Shortly after leaving the suit he moved to Kansas where he is credited with having laid out the town of Westphalia.

Merrill came to California in 1901. He settled with his family at San Martin, Santa Clara county. He lived there until two years ago when he came to Hayward to live with his daughter.

Just previous to his death he had perfected a patent on a pump which was attracting some attention here.

Merrill is survived by his widow, four children and one grandson. The children are Luther, Mrs. Hattie Pimental and Bertha and Ernest Merrill. Merrill Alfred Pimental is his grandson. He was born in New Hampshire.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from his late home, 1184 B street. The pallbearers will be J. D. Armstrong, A. W. Beam, S. J. Spencer, W. H. Keller and J. W. Littlefield.

Fleet of Fire Boats is Proposed for Bay

A report on the project of establishing a fleet of fire boats on San Francisco bay for the joint use of the bay cities was presented to Commissioner of Public Health and Safety F. F. Morse today by Fire Chief Elliott Whitehead and submitted by Morse to the council this morning. Chief Whitehead reported the results of a conference held on the issue in San Francisco. The report was filed pending the receipt of the minutes.

The council this morning adopted plans for the improvement of East Thirtieth street from Twenty-first to Twenty-third avenues, and passed a resolution of intention for the work.

An ordinance was passed to print creating another position of scenographer in the city attorney's office at a salary of $90 a month, the appointment to be made by City Attorney H. L. Hagan.

ELECTRICITY IS MODERN LABOR-SAVER

FLOOR PLUGS AID HOUSEWIFE

The more electrical outlets installed in a home the easier the housewife's work will be. People should be more careful when building homes to make sure that provision for plenty of floor plugs has been made to which electrical appliances can be attached.

Through the many modern electrical appliances real freedom is afforded the housewife. This should not be marred by not having a sufficient number of floor plugs from which the electrical appliances can be readily used.

Special receptacles have recently been placed on the market by the electrical dealers that will allow four different appliances to be run off the one plug. These plugs come in very handy, especially in the breakfast room, where a percolator, toaster, waffle iron and table lamp can all be used on the table at the same

More Electric Washers Sold During Last 14 Months Than in Previous 14 Years

It is barely fifteen years since the first electrical washing and wringing machine was manufactured. At that time the use of an electrically operated mechanical appliance for washing purposes in the home was practically unknown.

More electrical washing machines have been sold in the last fourteen months than in the whole fourteen years preceding. Today the washing machine industry ranks as one of the most important in the home.

This is a great convenience and eliminates the necessity of unscrewing the electric light bulb when you want to use your appliance.

Floor plugs should be placed in every room in the house, so that one can readily use a vacuum cleaner or electric iron in all parts of the home.

ELECTRICAL DEVICES HEAT ENTIRE HOMES

Persons from northern and eastern states, where a large part of the family revenue is spent in buying fuel to keep the house warm and to cook meals, may be surprised to learn that here in California there are homes in which such a thing as a fire is unknown. These homes are equipped with modern electrical appliances, which serve every purpose of stoves and other heaters without the cost and inconveniences of the latter.

By touching a button, heat can be applied instantaneously to any room. It can be turned off just as promptly when not needed, and thereby prevent unnecessary waste of heat.

Another advantage of heating a house by electricity is its pointed out by those who used this method, is the fact that coal or gas fires use up the free oxygen in the house, and thus reduce the life-giving element in air breathed into the lungs. Electrical heat, on the other hand is not due to combustion and thus does not rob the atmosphere of its vitality. Its promotion of healthful conditions in the home is undisputed.

Oakland Woman Had Record Losing Clock

Mrs. Maxwell Harvey, 129 Eleventh street, can lay claim to possessing the most stolen clock in Oakland. It is now in the possession of some burglar for the fifth time.

Five times it has been stolen and four times it has been recovered. The report of its fifth theft was made to the police by Mrs. Harvey yesterday.

WAR VETERAN LOSES $1000 TO BOLD FOOTPADS

Unable to recall the events leading up to the robbery, Herman Ritzman, former soldier, was found bound and gagged and robbed of $1000, lying beside the Southern Pacific tracks at First and Webster streets yesterday.

Ritzman does not remember anything which happened since he left Fresno. According to his story to the police, he came into the $1000 through the death of his mother in the East. He was on his way to Seattle. He alighted at Fresno to get a dinner at a railroad chop-house and, as he left the restaurant a man accosted him, asking for a match. That is the last he remembers.

When he was found his hands and feet were fast with baling wire and his face showed signs of a bad beating. He refused police assistance and said he would get his money back unaided.

Washing Machines Pay in Apartment Houses

Many apartment houses in Oakland and San Francisco which have installed electric washing machines for general use of their tenants, find that the added accommodation is not only greatly appreciated by their tenants, but a paying investment as well. A small change is made for the wash room and electric washer. These labor saving machines are in use every day, and the tenants are very appreciative of this new accommodation and many have expressed that it means big savings in their laundry bills.

Women's Nerves Saved by Sewing Machines

Sewing by means of electricity was not dreamed of until a few years ago, and when it was first made perfect housewives were not convinced of its practicability. But experience has proved that it is not only a great labor saver, but is more especially a saver of women's nerves.

With electricity as motive power for the machine, the whole attention of the operator may be given to the sewing, while formerly when foot or hand power was used, a woman had to divide her attention between sewing and "manning" the machine.

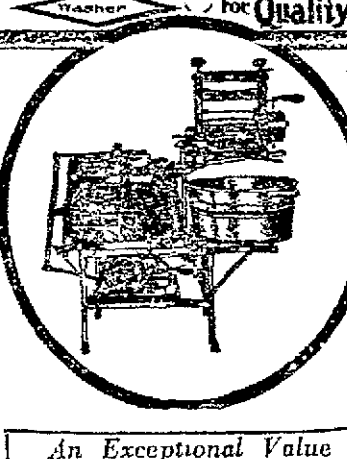

This was such a strain on the nervous system that many women were forced to give up the work and hire others to do their sewing. Those who have used electric sewing machines have explained that they can operate them for hours with but little nervous annoyance.

Winds Interfere With Durant Aero Circus

Due to a strong north wind that swept Durant Field in gusts yesterday, Lieutenant E. "Monty" Morton was forced to abandon his attempt to leap from one airplane to another in mid-air and so to try the change from racing automobile to an aircraft flying above the clouds. The unfavorable elements, however, Morton performed his other calisthenics.

The 5000 guests of R. C. "Cliff" Durant, who had gathered on the field at the foot of Eighty-second avenue witnessed a program of circus flying. Lieutenant "Monty" Morton drove his ship to an altitude of 5000 feet and then traced his way through the sky with smoke flares. Because of the unfavorable weather conditions Durant has decided to hold another aerial carnival at his field next Sunday. He said that during this week all those interested may visit his field.

TO AVOID THE "FLU"

First of All, Make Sure Your Blood is Red and Rich—in Fighting Trim

SAFETY IN VIGOROUS BLOOD

If You're Listless and Depressed Don't Delay a Minute—Get a Good Tonic

If you get the influenza, see a doctor at once—but why get it? Isn't it worth while, instead, to take every precaution now, against getting it? Probably the best and first thing to do is to make sure you are in good physical condition. During an epidemic, when everyone is exposed to influenza, as long as you are really well, the red corpuscles of your blood fight off and defeat disease germs. But when you are tired and run down, when you feel all right except that you haven't much energy or enthusiasm, your blood is tired out, too, and you are an easy victim.

Pepto-Mangan has become famous as a builder of rich, vigorous blood. It helps you up when you are run down. It helps you avoid illness. Or, it helps you recover, if you realized your poor physical condition too late.

Physicians have been recommending Pepto-Mangan for years in cases of anemia (bloodlessness). It is reliable, effective, and has a record of over twenty-five years' success. Take no chances with a run-down condition. Get Pepto-Mangan today. It is good health insurance.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in liquid and tablet form. There is no difference in medical value. Take either kind you prefer. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—Gode's.

News of the Churches

FIRST BAPTIST.

Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher of Los Angeles declared man guilty of as much curiosity as women, in a sermon yesterday at the First Baptist church. But instead of laughing at the pastor's variety of good quality, and a means to make the non-church-going male church members. "The faculty of curiosity has its two-fold privilege of either leading men and women into sin or into things that are noble, true and good. The Lord sometimes likes to beat the devil over the back with his own stick. He takes advantage of man's curiosity to lead him aright. Pools have come to meetings out of curiosity, just to see, who have remained to pray and be saved," he said, in conclusion. The subject of the day was preached by Rev. O. P. Gifford, who spoke on "Prayer" in a powerful sermon. The pastor will fill the pulpit of the First Baptist church for the rest of the month.

BROOKLYN PRESBYTERIAN.

Brooklyn Presbyterian church celebrated the fifty-ninth anniversary of the founding of their church yesterday, also the fourth anniversary of the present pastorate with appropriate services yesterday. Rev. Howard I. Kerr, who gave a Chautauque sermon as he entered the pulpit, the sermon subject in the morning was on the theme, "Bring Him Unto Me," or "The Big Business of an Old Church in a New Day." Kerr held that the biggest business of the church was to bring men, not to church exactly, but to Jesus, illustrating this point from the story in the Bible of the father who brought his epileptic son, and whom the disciples could not cure. Brooklyn will take a large part in the nation-wide and Protestant-wide evangelistic drive leading up to Easter.

In the evening Dr. Kerr spoke on the second of the series of pre-Easter Sunday night sermons on "The Matchless Master and the Modern Man," the particular theme being "The Mentality of Jesus."

FIRST UNITARIAN.

Rev. Clarence Reed spoke at the First Unitarian church on "Thomas Jefferson, the Prophet of Democracy." He took as his text the in-

Baptist Pastor From East Will Live in Oakland

REV. O. P. GIFFORD, celebrated Baptist preacher, who spoke at the First Baptist church in Oakland yesterday.

Dr. O. P. Gifford Arrives Here After Leaving Charge in Brookline, Mass.

Among the recent arrivals in Oakland is Dr. O. P. Gifford. He is accompanied by his wife and has come to Oakland in search of a mild climate, his health having been impaired by an attack of pneumonia. Dr. Gifford is pastor emeritus of the First Baptist church of Brookline, Mass., and is at present supplying the pulpit of the First Baptist church of Oakland. Dr. Gifford was born in Montague, Mass. He graduated from the Connecticut Literary Institute, Suffield, Conn., in 1870. He graduated from Brown university in 1874 and from the Rochester theological seminary in 1877. He has been pastor in Baptist churches in Pittsfield, Mass., Boston, Mass., Chicago, Ill., Buffalo, N. Y., and his last pastorate being in Brookline, Mass., which he was forced to relinquish on account of failing health. He is now interesting himself in the work of the denomination about the Grace Powers, secretary, Annis Walter, treasurer, Mrs. Laundress, superintendent elementary department, Mrs. Donatran, superintendent secondary department, Edna McDermitt, superintendent adult department, Rev. J. A. Shoptaugh, superintendent administration department, W. C. Granlund. At the close of the election Rev. Webb gave a solo, after which Dr. H. F. Evans, from the Pacific School of Religion and teacher at the Oakland community training school, spoke. His subject was "Addition and Multiplication in Christian Work." Among other things he said: "Many years ago a gray-haired man wrote 'I am writing to you young men.' This is an audience of young people in which I can speak to you. First, I can tickle your fancy; second, I can interest you for the time being; third, I can get you to set your teeth and clinch your fist and go to work."

Professor Duncan of San Francisco gave a lecture on the theme, "The Lack of Men and Boys in the Church." He said in part: "This is an unusual audience as there are just as many men as women in most of the churches there is one man or boy to every woman or girl. The solution lies in the Sunday school. The minister must take more time with the boys; they should be invited to business meetings and served ice cream at the close. Buy them a basketball, have a father and son's banquet, a Halloween party, and all entertainments. Take the boys for long auto rides, have week-end camps, and have them above all things, do something for the church and attend vacation Bible school. If I were a boy I should not attend a long drawn-out service, but I should enjoy school—put life and enthusiasm into the services. When you give your boys an impulse to serve do not choke it, but give them an opportunity to use it." Professor Duncan concluded his lecture with: "The prayer has been, 'God give us men.' Let us change it to, 'God give us boys.'"

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL

One thousand two hundred Boy Scouts of Oakland attended the sermon preached by Rev. Francis J. Van Horn at the First Congregational church yesterday, when he spoke on "Why Do Men Swear—Is Swearing an American Habit?" Rev. Van Horn held that the world war has intensified masculine America's unconscious use of profanity, though it is now being stopped through the influence of American women. He said, among other remarks: "None of us would use a simple expletive in the presence of a woman if it were of an improper order, but there weren't enough women in the army. Swearing grows out of a desire for emphasis. This is a mistaken idea, for the best men who obtain the most effect out of emphasis do not swear."

EASTBAY PAIR AROUSE JUSTICE TO PLIGHT TROTH

Two young hearts beat as one today owing to the efforts of Justice Dana P. Biecke of Stockton, who was pulled from bed by his wife last Saturday night and told that two people were at the front door very eager to get married. The justice of the peace slipped on his sock coat and was ready to perform the ceremony. But the couple had no license. So Justice Biecke went to the homes of three deputy county clerks before he found one at home. The necessary document was secured and the ceremony performed shortly after midnight. The man was Paul J. Smith, 317 Newton avenue, Oakland, while the girl gave her name as Louise A. Uribe of Berkeley. The couple motored to Stockton Saturday night returning to Oakland Sunday evening.

YOUTH'S CASE CONTINUED

Dr. Holmes Troutman, Berkeley physician who is facing a charge preferred against him by the parents of a 14-year-old school boy of San Francisco, appeared against in the police court of Judge George Samuels this morning. The motion made by Attorney Philip J. Carey for a dismissal of the case was denied by Judge Samuels. The hearing was continued until March 1 for further examination.

BURGLARS STEAL JEWELRY

A diamond brooch, watch, stoppin and ring valued at $700 were stolen from the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Herzog while they were in San Francisco last night, according to their report to the police. Entrance was effected by forcing a bedroom window.

Concerning Epidemics

In Epidemics the germ fastens most readily on fruitful soil—a system that is in poor condition.

Stoppage of food waste, and the resulting decay, generates poisons which are absorbed by the blood, lowering its power of resistance to withstand the attack of outside germs such as influenza.

In plain terms, constipation encourages Epidemics.

If you keep your intestinal passage clear and functioning regularly to get rid of this waste, your system will be kept in good condition to successfully cope with disease germs to which you may be exposed.

That is what the Nujol Treatment does—without straining, and without drawing on the vitality of other parts of the body, as do other forms of treatment.

In plain terms, Nujol discourages constipation and its dangerous consequences.

Keep your body clean inside with the Nujol Treatment. It is the best possible Sickness Prevention.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. Beware of products represented to be "the same as Nujol." You may suffer from substitutes. Address Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for valuable health booklet, free, "Thirty Feet of Danger."

LEGION IS EXONERATED IN SHOOTING

MONTESSANO, Wash., Feb. 9.—The American Legion today was completely exonerated of any part in the planning of an alleged plot to raid the I. W. W. hall at Centralia, Wash., last night.

The case before the court was the shooting of the eleven I. W. W. defendants on trial here for their lives for the Centralia Armistice day shootings.

Taking the unusual course of delivering its opening statement before the prosecution had offered any evidence, the defense today began to outline its case before the jury.

"We will stand or fall on the position that the shooting at Centralia was done in self-defense," Vandever told the jury. The big question is who was the aggressor. Was it a deliberate attack upon the marchers without justification or was the shooting the result of a deliberate attack upon the I. W. W. Hall by the marchers?

Vandever then outlined the beginning of the origin of the I. W. W. in Chicago in 1903, explaining its philosophy and its fight against the legal wrongs done on the part of the capital, declaring that the I. W. W. had as its principal object the abolishing of the capitalism system.

In an opening statement to the jury in which he outlined what the defense will offer during the trial, Vandever charged that the American Legion members who might have participated in the alleged attack was a pre-arranged affair, was a conspiracy of commercial organizations of Centralia.

I exonerate now, and forever after the American Legion, as an organization, for any responsibility for this attack on the I. W. W. hall," Vandever said, in putting forth the defense's claim that the hall was attacked before a shot was fired from the hall.

"Those members of the American Legion who did participate in this raid were scoundrels, without their knowledge and consent," he added.

HEIFETZ CHARMS MELODY LOVERS

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH.

Jascha Heifetz, weaver of wonders, has arrived. Three years ago, at 17, he made his American debut. The intervening time has been filled by a deluge of acclamations for the youth in the eastern centers where he has played. The rumble of the deluge struck loud upon western ears, and the result was such an audience as crowded the Columbia Theater in San Francisco yesterday in defiance of comfort and influenza. It is this youth, who goes so coolly and unobtrusively about his tasks, who has proved the old prophecy of reckoning genius by years. In the mightiness of his harmonies is as much the understanding of the rapport with beauty and the essence of poetry that authorize his playing are, too, the common possession of mature souls.

REPOSE IMMOVABLE

Far more surprising than the Heifetz technique is the little show he makes thereof. I have never heard a violinist come so far from making a point of sheer dexterity as he does. Two Beethoven numbers out of "The Ruins of Athens" and a Paganini capriccio, his fingers played the same eerie calm, the same lack of assumption, in these as he did in the simplest thing he played. His immovable repose was, in fact, at every moment an added charm. It left us free to enjoy what he had musically to say.

Nor is the manner that saying otherwise assumable. He plays the lower strings of his excellent instrument with the rich and warm tone which a Casals draws from a cello. The shrilling of his harmonies is as soft as velvet, as delicate as a spider's thread. His ability at shading is a constant marvel; his intonation impeccable; the loveliness of his melodic line ethereal; his phrasing the very extract of poetic intelligence. For all of his poise there is no questioning his Muscovite origin; it speaks emphatically when emotion is demanded, yet not too emphatically.

STYLES ARE DISTINCT

There are distinct Heifetz styles. One is composed of purity and nobility, and the other of expression and numbers yesterday as Vitali's "Chaconne," a composition of dignified force and a quaint old-worldliness as well, and in the ever-lovely Wieniawski D minor concerto. Agate he is the singer of sweet songs, creator of subtle delicacies and graces. Here he came into his own with yesterday's audience in such captivating numbers as the Schubert "Ave Maria," of which by the way, he has made one of the most excellent phonograph records available. The Mozart Minuet, a Chopin nocturne transcription, and his master's "Ave" arrangement of two parts of the "Ruins of Athens." And then, sometimes, he is the lineal descendant of the sinuous-pure technicians, as in a Paganini capriccio. Just before

Noblewoman of Armenia, Victim of War, to Talk

LADY ANNE AZGABETIAN

Red Cross Worker Whose Baby Was Born Under Fire, to Lecture.

Lady Anne Azgabetian, an Armenian noblewoman, whose baby was born in a battered Red Cross tent under fire from Turkish shells while she was at the front helping her countrymen withstand the enemy, and whose war experiences have been blacker than the women of almost any other nation will speak at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the chapel of the First Congregational Church, Twelfth and Clay streets, under the auspices of the local committee of Near East Relief.

General Azgabetian served with the Russian army in the Caucasus against the Turks. His wife accompanied him to the front. Upon the collapse of the Russian armies the Azgabetians returned to Armenia. With a Turkish price upon his head, the general and his valiant wife with her baby made their way across Russia to Finland and came to America.

In an effort to present to Americans the true condition of their fellow countrymen, the war-scarred family is making a tour of the United States. Lady Anne Azgabetian, who will lecture in Oakland tomorrow, is one of the remarkable women figures of the war.

A. Sousa, 2832 Chapman street, was run down by an automobile last night at Seventh and Adeline streets as he was about to board a Southern Pacific train. The car was driven by James Cautencio, 862 Wood street. Sousa was taken to the emergency hospital and treated for abrasions about the head and body.

In an effort to avoid a collision with an automobile yesterday morning, Dominick Doyle, a salesman residing at 1153 Terrace street, Oakland, ran his motorcycle into a stone and sustained a badly fractured arm.

BRITISH AT DANZIG

BRITAIN, Feb. 8.—An advance guard of a British battalion, which will be one of the units of occupation at Danzig, has arrived in that city, and the last German troops left yesterday.

He played the "Antonia Cantabile" of Tchaikowsky and dodged with ease its pitfalls of sentimentalism.

Heifetz plays three more in this first bay visit of his, and Selby Oppeheimer tells me there will be the same mighty crowd to hear him each time. It is interesting to recall that Fritz Kreisler played to an even more on his first visit to San Francisco, yet the two are comparable masters. Perhaps our musical appreciation does grow after all.

CONTRACT IS OFFERED TO DR. BRODRICK

Dr. R. G. Brodrick, director of Alameda county hospitals, is to be offered a new contract for another year by the county supervisors, probably at an increased salary, according to rumors in county official circles.

Dr. Brodrick's contract, which was for a year, expires March 1. He has brought here from San Francisco, where he was at the head of the San Francisco hospital, mainly to supervise the construction of the new $2,000,000 county hospital here. He was given a salary of $7200 a year, $5000 of the first year's salary being given by County Architect H. H. Meyers in consideration of the assistance to be rendered by Dr. Brodrick in the erection of the new hospital, concerning which he had acquired much technical knowledge in the building of the San Francisco hospital. He had been receiving $3600 a year as medical director of himself and family in San Francisco. Next year's salary here, if he is retained, will have to be paid in full by the county, it is stated.

Recently the Alameda County Medical Association passed a resolution urging that he be retained. The county institutions' commission is now considering the matter. It is said a resolution will be presented to the Board of Supervisors at its next session including a contract for another year's service.

Dr. Brodrick, who has made his home in this city since 1903 and who was employed by the W. P. Fuller Paint Company, going into business here for himself later, was arrested in Stockton several months ago on the charge of which he was later found guilty. His attorney asked for probation on the ground that Keital was subject to dementation at times owing to an operation.

"So help me God," said Keital, "I came to Stockton for the sole purpose of doing business. I don't know what on earth was the matter with me. I never did wrong in my life before."

The matter was referred to the probation officer, who was made aware of the fact that Keital was found that Keital had been in trouble before in Tennessee, and at several other places.

It was upon the findings of the probation officer that Judge Plummer denied the request.

PROBATION IS DENIED MAN IN RING FRAUD

Probation was denied H. S. Keital of Oakland by Judge Plummer in Stockton Saturday where Keital was found guilty of falsely obtaining a diamond ring at a jewelry store there.

CHINESE THRIFT REDUCES COST OF LIVING

Traditionally thrifty, the Chinese have achieved an enviable reputation for their ability to live comfortably and well at a minimum cost.

The Chinese have also made themselves famous in all quarters of the globe for their wonderful business judgment and their success in all kinds of commercial undertakings.

In Oakland the Chinese meat markets have struck a heavy blow at the high cost of living. Patrons of these Chinese markets do not need to be told of the low prices prevailing on all cuts of meat.

These Chinese markets are now the subject of attack by competitors—competitors unable or unwilling to meet the public half way in holding down on meat prices.

These competitors can buy just as cheaply, can be content with smaller profits. They can buy from the same wholesalers, packers and slaughter houses.

The meat sold by any market, irrespective of who owns it—

Must Be Inspected by the Authorities

The Chinese markets pay just as high rents, they are confronted by the same problems of high wages, their scale of wholesale prices are the same, their equipment equal, if not superior, and yet they are selling for a great deal less.

They are content with a fair margin of profit and feel they should merit public patronage if they help to reduce the high cost of living.

Visit any of the Chinese markets. One of the new markets—just opened—represents an investment of $25,000 in the latest American-made fixtures and is positively the most modern, sanitary, up-to-date meat market in the city.

Two-thirds of the Chinese engaged in the market business in Oakland are natives of the United States—have the same constitutional rights as any other American citizen irrespective of the nationality of his or her parents.

The progressive Chinese merchant knows that he must have the best equipment, every labor-saving device, all the latest ideas in service and give the public the lowest possible price for the quality offered. Otherwise he could not expect to do business.

The public is invited to inspect the Chinese markets—compare prices and quality. The public will find both the finest cuts of meat as well as the cheaper cuts—the public will also find there is no profiteering—that the Chinese sell for the

Police Still Search for Alexander Venho

The case of Alexander Venho, charged with criminal syndicalism, was again brought up this morning before Judge Mortimer Smith. Venho, who was arrested during an I. W. A bench warrant was issued several weeks ago for his arrest, but Inspector Fenton Thompson reported to the court this morning that Venho had not yet been taken into custody.

Economy in Meter Reading

The East Bay Water Company does not confine its efforts toward economy to any one department of its vast organization, but regards each as equally important.

There are over 66,000 meters—from Alvarado to Richmond—and so systematically have these been divided into districts, that the entire number are read accurately, without hurry or confusion, during the month, by seven men.

Field Books, in which readings are recorded, carry readings of previous months. If current reading is out of proportion to the amount of water used in former months, the Meter Readers must ascertain if there is a legitimate reason for the excess. If not, the meter is reported and an expert tester is sent to examine it.

The meter used cannot register fast. If dirt accumulates and clogs, it has a tendency to make the meter run more slowly than the water passing through it warrants.

A complete repair department is maintained to keep these meters in perfect condition.

Co-operation with the company is earnestly sought. Any time an unusual amount of water is registered we shall welcome your reporting it. It may indicate a leak in your pipes, or faulty plumbing.

LOST GIRLS ARE SOUGHT NEAR HOME

Instead of having been whizzed off to Los Angeles where the moving picture camps hold out such a lure for girls who have just learned how to do up their hair and wear high heels, Mildred Thorp and Jeanette Thompson, 12 and 16 years of age, are somewhere in the bay cities, according to a new theory of the Alameda and Oakland police.

The disappearance of the two girls from their homes in Alameda Saturday night was accompanied with a story of their having been seen last in an automobile driven by Ray Bozard, Southern Pacific clerk. A hasty glance at the license number was responsible for an effort that caused an investigation to be started in Los Angeles and gave the police the impression that the machine was owned by a resident of that city.

Bozard has shown that he took the girls for a ride and left them near their home and that he did not know that they had disappeared until Sunday. At the Thorp home it is said Mildred did not wish to go to school any longer and had contemplated running away. Jeanette Thompson took a part of an older sister's wardrobe with her, evidently with a desire to give an impression of greater age. Both wore the much desired high heels.

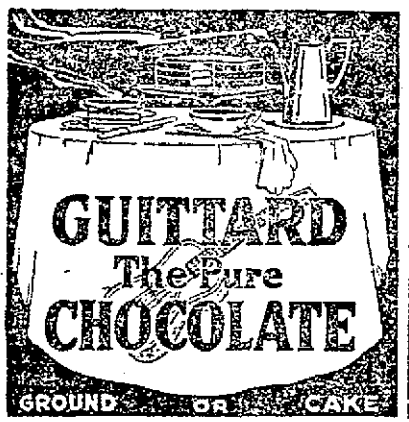

As a result of the failure of the Los Angeles clue and of Bozard's explanation, the police of Alameda are of the belief that the girls have not gone far away. They only had sixty cents between them.

Ink Formula Case is Again Continued

Frank L. Linstead, a chemist living at 1528 Fifteenth avenue, appeared in the Police Court of Judge George Samuels this morning for a further hearing in his case. He is charged with embezzling the formula which he had himself evolved for the synthetic manufacture of ink from ore. It is alleged by Lewis Gilman & Moore, a mining corporation, that he stole the formula while in their employ. Owing to the illness of Judge P. B. Ostrander, Linstead's attorney, the case was continued until March 5 for further examination.

ALBANY SALOON REDAINT UNLAWFUL MAN ARRESTED

ALBANY, Feb. 9.—Charged with continuing his saloon business in violation of the prohibition law, Henry Miller, of Albany, was taken into custody yesterday by the Albany police officials and is being held at the county jail for the federal officials.

Miller, according to the Albany authorities, had ignored repeated warnings given him following complaints reaching the officials that liquor was being sold at his place of business on San Pablo avenue near the county line. A raid on the saloon conducted by Marshal John Glavinovich and Deputy Marshal Charles Hardie resulted in a five-gallon demijohn of whiskey and several half-empty bottles of liquor being taken. According to the police Miller had his bedroom in the rear of his saloon fitted up with

Won't Keep Auto Wife; Has Nine in Family Now

BERKELEY, Feb. 9.—The person who picked out the automobile of James Jardine, consulting engineer of 2012 Dwight way, as a place for leaving a tiny waif of humanity on Saturday night was a poor mathematician, to say the least.

Jardine has nine children of his own and with the present high cost of living he hesitates about taking a tenth to his heart.

Accordingly the boy baby who gurgled a welcome to Jardine as he provided about his machine for tools on Saturday evening is at Roosevelt Hospital waiting to be loved and adopted. Hospital authorities declare the child to be one of the healthiest and prettiest they have ever seen. As yet the exact age has not been determined, but the baby is believed to be between a week and ten days old.

CITY WARDS ON CITY WARDS ON WATERED MILK

Drastic measures put an end to the watering of milk consumed in Oakland by outside dairies shipping into the city are being taken by City Veterinarian Dr. C. C. Wing, head of the municipal milk inspection department, following the discovery of the increasing extent of the practice.

Four dairymen have been cited by Dr. Wing to appear and show cause why they should not be placed under arrest for milk adulteration, and in two cases fines have been imposed.

"If the epidemic of milk watering continues," said Dr. Wing today, "there will be wholesale prosecutions. The people pay for milk and they are going to get milk as it comes from the cows, and not watered."

The adulteration has been noticeable for more than a week. Dr. Wing announced, and the amount of adulteration already discovered runs between 10 per cent and 12 per cent. Dr. Wing threatens to revoke permits if the practice is not discontinued.

SOUTH HAS RAIN; TO BE FAIR NORTH

Southern California's drenching rain so far not penetrated northward of Fresno nor, in the opinion of the weather bureau, will it do so. From San Diego up to Santa Barbara and into the lower Tehachapi country the precipitation for a day has been as heavy as an inch and a half in some places. Still the drought continues throughout the central and northern portions of the state, for which the prediction is again fair weather.

With this two-long range prophets take issue, Professor Albert F. Porta declares that rainfall in the upper sections of the state is due today and for the two or three days following. Father J. S. Ricard at Santa Clara college, says the high pressures yesterday and this morning will be succeeded by a "low" by tonight with consequent wind and rain.

The upper limit of the Southern California storm is Paso Robles and Fresno, but the weather bureau says the storm area is ill-defined and may be extended. The Fresno and Paso Robles precipitation was but .01 inch. San Diego had .36 inch, while Riverside, Los Angeles, San Bernardino and other places received a similar drenching. Redlands was in the center of the storm area and had received an inch and a half of rain to 3 o'clock last night.

The local precipitation to date is 5.47 inches as against a normal seasonal to date of 15.60 inches. The northeasterly winds which sprang up yesterday grew in intensity during the night and were blowing at daybreak with almost the intensity of a gale off the coast. As a result storm warnings for smaller craft were displayed at 11 o'clock this morning.

FRESNO ENJOYS RAIN FRESNO, Feb. 9.—A steady rain began falling here before daylight this morning and was still falling at 10 o'clock. Early reports from farming districts indicated the best rain of the entire season. All crops have been in need of a soaking rain for several weeks.

DR. CLARK SUE FOR MAINTENANCE

Charging that her husband, Dr. William Nathan Clark, Oakland dentist, secured from her 12-year-old daughter for the alleged purpose of taking her on a visit to his mother in Wisconsin, recently was a use to get her away, Mrs. Vera Clark has filed a suit for separate maintenance. She says he lets the girl powder her face and dress lavishly.

Mrs. Clark also charges that her husband falsely accused her, that he is addicted to the use of opium, and that he has ignored their two younger children. There are three children, Vera, 12; Earl, 11, and Marvin, 9.

Mrs. Clark asks the custody of all three and for $30 a week separate maintenance.

INJUNCTION ISSUED TO SHIPYARDS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—A temporary injunction order prohibiting union officials and members from interfering with the operation of the Moore Shipbuilding Corporation yards here and in Oakland was issued today by the United States District Court.

The order was issued upon petition of the Moore corporation. The failure of the defendants or their representatives to appear in court was not disclosed when the case was called by Judge Van Fleet, but a subpoena issued today by the Bay Cities Metal Trades Council, it is intimated, explains why those named in the petition did not put in an appearance.

STATEMENT BY UNION.
The statement follows, in part: "In view of the construction placed by the Federal court on a war-time statute, it is fruitless for any defendant, however innocent, to resist an application on the part of a shipbuilding concern for an injunction in a labor dispute."

"No matter how pure the intention of the labor leaders, no matter how efficacious their conduct or how vigorous their effort on behalf of order, these efforts seem to be ignored by the court."

"The war caused over fourteen months ago, yet a patriotic statute intended for a wholly different purpose is best utilized by private employers to throttle the action and choke the speech of American workmen."

ATTACK UPON PLAN.
The country can never be solved by either force or injustice on the part of the employer, but the group of giant corporations financing the propaganda for the so-called open shop, American plan to crush the aspirations of labor, have made the task of conservative labor leaders more difficult. Instead of conciliation they have substituted brute force and have unleashed hatred and rancor and thereby incurred the reds and the I. W. O.'s to prey upon the starving families of defenseless workmen and to sow the seed of anarchy and ruin.

"While this condition exists the labor organizations can see no useful purpose to be served by being dragged into the courts, which they have never violated and commanded to desist from acts they have never committed."

After three days in Oakland investigating various angles of the Helm murder case at Modesto, District Attorney Brown has returned to that city, where he is maintaining the greatest secrecy as to his findings.

That Brown failed in the main purpose of his visit here, that to link up P. O. McKenna, hotel man charged by Mrs. Frances Mayer with the murder of Mayme Helm at Waterford on January 11, with a crime several years ago and to show that he had served time in San Quentin, is the belief of local police. There is no record to bear out the story that McKenna served a term in the penitentiary for a statutory crime committed in Oakland.

Forced to drop that end of the case the Modesto attorney is believed to have interviewed former acquaintances of McKenna and of Mrs. Mayer and to have taken home with him a number of affidavits concerning the two. Other evidence to be used against the defendants will be finger-prints taken by the authorities at Waterford on the day the Helm girl's body was found. They were not introduced at the inquest, and the fact that the prosecution is possessed of them has been held as a surprise.

Eggs of Seagull May Be Sold to Cut High Prices

Seagull eggs may play an important part later on in bringing down the high cost of living if egg prices remain at their present altitudes. Already hotels in the east are serving seagull eggs. A despatch from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, relates that a traffic patrolman held a sale of seagull eggs and was swamped with orders. He disposed of fourteen dozens before noon.

According to Professor Meyer Jaffe of the University of California, seagull eggs are excellent food. "Fresh seagull eggs are as good as hens' eggs," said Jaffe this morning. "If one could only imagine that seagull eggs were hens' eggs there would be no way of distinguishing between them. Fresh seagull eggs taste like hens' eggs and I see no reason why they should not be sold in the markets, providing they can be secured in sufficient quantities fresh from the nests."

Several years ago seagull eggs sold in San Francisco at fifty cents a dozen. That was before Petaluma produced eggs.

BOYS ABANDON CAVEMAN LIFE

Possessed of an orange, two dollars in change, a blanket, and an appetite for adventurous fiction, two Oakland boys, Robert and Clay Cather, determined to leave the prosaic paths of city streets for the more primal life of the cave man.

So Robert and Clay walked up in the Berkeley hills, back of the Hotel Claremont. The sun went down on them last night as they were threading their way up a narrow gully that leads to a cave they knew of. The moon looked in on them tucked up in the blanket in front of a little fire and might have seen them divide the orange and heard them swear forever, such things as school, textbooks, and Sunday clothes.

The wind blew around the cave and whistled in its depths, and there was an owl that added a gruesome note to the noises outside. Robert and Clay, veiled in the lore of the forest, knew what to expect and were not frightened—not one bit. This morning, when they ventured back into Berkeley to spend the $2 they needed at stores, they were picked up by Patrolman H. P. Lee and taken to the police station, where they declared that they would rather die than go home.

When Mrs. Nell Cather, 4223 Montgomery street, mother of the boys, appeared, they relented and decided that for the time being they would give up their cave man ambitions and go home. A couple of strong young boys are needed about the house, they say, and it wouldn't be fair to mother to leave her in the lurch.

All the same it was a wonderful night.

Six Lads Are Sent to Detention Home

Six youths who were captured last night as they were rifling a confectionery and ice cream booth at Idora park of candy and cigarettes, were delivered to the Detention Home today. The boys were taken into custody here: Frank Robertson, Joe Cronin, Francis Cronin, William Burke, Louis Dorsa and Daniel O'Connell.

STUDY FOR 'FLU' FIGHT IS PROJECTED

As a further relief measure to alleviate suffering from the influenza epidemic arrangements for a course in the home care of the sick were completed today by Oakland Chapter of the American Red Cross and an appeal was issued by Mrs. A. C. Smith, head of the emergency nursing bureau of the chapter, to all women to attend the classes.

The course will be started at 7:15 o'clock tonight in room 224 of the Technical high school. Fifteen lessons in the essentials of home care of the sick will comprise the entire course, which will be given for 60 cents.

Classes will be held every Monday and Wednesday evening until the course is completed, when a Red Cross certificate will be given to each member passing the final examinations.

"The calls for help in this epidemic show how very necessary it is for every woman to know the essentials in home care of the sick," said Mrs. Smith this morning. "The course we will start tonight will include instruction in temperature taking, pulse recording, mustard plasters, hot compresses, foot baths, give bathing and the giving of medicines."

An abatement of the epidemic was evidenced this morning in reports from the health department. Responses to the calls for help sent out have not been up to the expectations of the bureau, according to Mrs. Smith, who this morning repeated her appeal for the registration and attendance of practical nurses and women who will do household and tend the sick. "Generous responses have been received from the hospital, hospital nurses, Mrs. Smith stated.

According to the latest figures, today, 176 cases were reported to the local health department over the week-end and up to noon today. The total of cases in the city is now 1665. Only four new deaths were recorded.

Court Frees Woman on Forgery Charge

The case of May Toddington, arrested on a charge of forgery by Inspector Eddie Wallman several months ago, was dismissed by Police Judge Smith this morning because there was not sufficient evidence of proof by the prosecution.

GRANATS WILL MEET TRIBUNE MIDWINTER STARS IN BIG SERIES

OAKLAND CLUB EXTRACTS ANOTHER RIGHT HANDED PITCHER FROM THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

First Game

At S. F. Park

Next Sunday

Cammozi Wins Two Games and S. F. Championship for Granats.

By EDDIE MURPHY

More than seven thousand baseball fans packed the grandstand and part of the bleachers at Recreation Park in San Francisco yesterday afternoon to witness the Granat Brothers win two games of a double-header and the right to meet the OAKLAND TRIBUNE All-Stars in a series of which the first game is to be played at San Francisco next Sunday. As a reward for winning the transbay championship, the players of the Granat team will be presented with a $1000 check by the owners of the San Francisco Coast League club.

Although the crowd supported the Granat Bros. to win the games, it was more of a surprise to see them get by with two wins, as the Mayrose Butters were favorites to win. However, the Granats outplayed the Mayrose club in both contests and took like an aggregation that will be hard for the TRIBUNE league stars to conquer. The scores of the games were 9 to 7 in the first, and 3 to 2 in the second.

Bad Breaks Did Not Discourage the Winners

During the two games there were several bad decisions rendered by Umpire Veltou and McDonald that all went against the Granats. However, the Granats were not discouraged by the bad decisions and won both games.

All-Stars to Hold Meeting Tomorrow Eve

Veteran Player May Be Picked to Direct Team From Bench.

All players selected to perform on the TRIBUNE All-Star team for the series with the Granat Bros. are requested to attend the meeting to be held at the TRIBUNE building, President Fred L. Krumb and several others in the All-Stars have several important things to make known. It was certainly pleasing to watch the All-Stars defeat the Peacocks yesterday, and at that they were not at full strength with Seaton Christensen, Doc Silva, Gene Caldera and Pete Starnes out of the fray. But all those fellows will be on the job for the first game with the winners of the Seals' League at Recreation Park in San Francisco next Sunday afternoon. The second game of the series will be played at the local Coast League park the following Sunday.

TRIBUNE ALL-STARS SMEAR WHITEWASH ON PEACOCK AUTOS

By MAURY PESSANO

The Peacock Auto Club, winners of the Class-B pennant in the TRIBUNE League, were given a chance yesterday afternoon at Lincoln Park, Alameda, to show the fans what kind of a showing they would put up against the TRIBUNE All-Stars, the club that will play the winners of the Seals' League from across the bay. Clyde Borba, manager of the Auto club, trotted out his best club to take on the All-Stars. The Peacocks were given a fine beating by the All-Stars, the score being 14 to 0. For the All-Stars both Milton Steengrafe, the young right-hander of the Halton-Didders, and Herb McQuaid of the Kregs showed the fans some fine pitching against the Class-B winners.

Halton-Didders Are Handed a Bad Lacing by the San Leandro Club.

By RUSS WHITNEY

The Best Tractors of San Leandro made up for their awful walloping by the Halton-Didders' month ago by handing them a 14 to 0 beating at San Leandro before one of the largest crowds to be packed in the Charzy town park for some time. The Tractors with the acquisition of two new men to their lineup put up a wonderful brand of ball and at no time after the first inning were in danger of losing their lead. Teddy O'Hara, who was matched to box Jimmy Dundee, is on the West Coast. The fact is, however, far be it from me to let you go away empty handed. Here's a black eye for you!

Celtics Are Defeated by Acorns 3-2

Sacramento Boys Were Not Considered Chance Before Game.

By H.A. McGill

The large crowd of soccer fans who attended yesterday's cup tie at Central Park, San Francisco, between Celtic and Acorns, were given a huge surprise when the Sacramento boys provided the biggest sensation in many years by handing a defeat to the fighting Irishmen to the tune of 3 goals to 2. In view of Celtic's great record as cup fighters, they were in many sections regarded as probable winners in the present competition. When Referee Wardlaw lined the teams up promptly at 2:30 p. m., the youthful appearance of the "Capit" gang was noted by the crowd, and many remarks were passed regarding the wisdom of the association officials in allowing "such a bunch of kids" to participate in the contest.

Pat Ragon Is Acquired by J. Cal Ewing

Foreman Howard Announces His Pitching Staff is Complete.

By BOB SHAND

J. Cal Ewing has pried another athlete loose from the major leagues and the Oakland pitching-staff is now complete and ready for delivery to Foreman Del Howard. Pat Ragon, veteran right-handed pitcher of more than ten years' experience in the big tent, is the latest past-timer to affix his name to an Oakland contract, and as the local management has been trying to land the player since the close of last season, there is considerable joy at baseball headquarters. Ragon has been service with the Cubs, and Braves, and Giants, and is a pitcher of the "Doc" Crandall type. He has probably played out his string in the majors, but figures to be a mighty useful man on a Class A ball club. Foreman Howard played with Ragon on the Chicago Cubs many years ago, and by all means wanted to get the big fellow for the Oaks. He wouldn't have turned the Oaks over to a player who served the half century has a right to make a deal for himself. He comes to the Oaks from the majors.

FIELD FOR NEW UNION
IS LIMITED

"Middle-class unions" if they begin to be organized about the country after the Brooklyn example, will have to be organized in the opinion of Professor I. B. Cross, noted economist of the University of California faculty. As he sees it, they can neither organize to raise wages nor organize to keep wages down, so that the only opening left them is to slash at the market end of the high-living-cost problem.

The initial "middle-class union" already has been incorporated under the laws of New York state. Its incorporators are two lawyers, a silk dealer, a merchant and a machinist. They plan their "union" to protect the interests of persons who belong neither to the employing class nor to labor organizations. One of the aims of the so-called middle-class union is "that part of the intelligent, unorganized individuals who are neither labor unionists, politicians nor capitalists."

While wishing to comment, short of more complete information, upon the motives behind the organization or to what extent it is an expression of "class solidarity," Professor Cross still was assured that its economic opportunities were limited. He said:

"As an organization of this kind I think a 'middle-class union' is in form at least, unique in this country. There have been various bourgeois groups organized from time to time for different purposes, but they have not taken this shape. It cannot be exactly what such a union hopes to accomplish unless it be through some such machinery as co-operative buying and marketing. It is not a middle-class union, but a middle-class association to this time have taken the shape of co-operative agencies, and this might propose to do the same. At this time, above or below, it is difficult to see how otherwise it would be of much real value."

INFLUENZA DIET
CAUSES DISPUTE

The question of whether chicken broth and eggs are the best things in the world for patients suffering from influenza or whether a diet of the foodstuffs aids the spread of disease and results in fatalities that might be avoided, has caused a medical dispute. Dr. J. H. Chan, physician here, made the startling statement. Many of the medical fraternity are in accord with his theories. Others take direct issue with the oriental authority on dietetics.

No Chinese who has abstained from chicken broth and eggs has died of influenza in this country," Chan, who claims his conclusions are based on observations both here and in China. "I have seen patients suffering from the epidemic put on egg and chicken broth diet who immediately developed pneumonia and died." Dr. Chan asserts that long ago Chinese physicians discovered the relation between the egg diet and fatalities. He points out that chicken broth, above all other meats, is subject to pneumonic conditions.

Dr. Chan has issued a public warning to persons afflicted with influenza to refrain from eggs and chicken broth. Just because other physicians do not agree with me," he affirms, "does not change the facts in the matter."

Dr. Daniel Crosby, Oakland health officer, refuses to enter into discussion with Dr. Chan. He offers that eggs do not agree with some persons and that chicken broth has little food value.

Professor Myer E. Jaffe, of the University of California, comments that eggs and chicken broth have high food value, but refuses to discuss the medical aspects of the subject.

Alarmed Thieves
Leave Sacked Loot

Disregarding hundreds of dollars' worth of silvers and other valuables which they had already placed in sacks preparatory to taking it away, burglars who ransacked the home of Walter Timmins, 3344 Santa Rita street, Thursday afternoon, were seeking their loot and made their escape with three pennies which happened to be in a child's purse.

The thieves entered the house late last night through a window. The family was asleep upstairs. Timmins reported to the police this morning that the door had been taken but the three pennies.

Lavenson Gives Remedy
For Evil of High Costs

Necessity of increased production and a co-operation of all agencies to secure a reduction in the cost of living were emphasized in an address at the council chambers this afternoon before the Oakland Housewives League by A. S. Lavenson, vice-president of the H. C. Capwell Company. Department store prices were the particular theme of the meeting, and it was to discuss the merchant's side of this question that Lavenson was invited.

Lavenson discussed at some length the applications of the labor problem to the retail trade. He sketched the elements that went into the high cost of goods, and differentiated between "making profits" and "making money." He thought the most imperative need was placing the industries of the country immediately upon a footing of the greatest possible production. In part he said:

"The matter of high living costs is one that is more far-reaching and of more concern than almost any that the world has faced since the question of German domination has been settled. Unfortunately, its experience is limited, as to concrete facts, to the lines of dry goods and women's garments sold by my firm, but it is more than possible that the same general economic laws, or business customs, or human failings, or whatever is responsible for the troubles, will apply more or less to all lines of trade."

"To use an inelegant expression, the buck has been passed from retailer to jobber and manufacturer, to labor, to exporter, to producer and to the inventor of the excess profits tax."

"When the retailer is urged to reduce his prices he cannot ignore the higher prices at which he will be compelled to replace his stock. What is suggested, that the producing labor is based on too high a wage scale, the answer is that the increasing living scale justifies it."

ACTION POSSIBLE

"It seems to me that a recent incident points out the simplest and quickest way to learn whether or not profiteering is the cause of high prices. It would not even be necessary for the government to employ a large number of auditors, because it has sworn statements of every manufacturer, producer and merchant in the country on file in the internal revenue department at Washington."

"If the government is satisfied that excessive profits and not economic laws are the cause of high prices, it also seems to me that, too, is the place in which to determine whether or not the profits are excessive, because such determination must be based on an analysis of the net profits and not the gross."

"I am informed by the assistant to the attorney general, Mr. Atwood, that there is no prescribed definition of the term 'profiteering' in the Federal Food and Drug Administration act, but that when cases are tried before a jury can it be determined whether or not the law fits the case, the determining factor being the judgment of the jury. In the meantime, inquiry of the owner of the business complained against by a disgruntled customer may also be compelled to close his doors, because the damage done will be well nigh irreparable."

"Think what it means to place such a danger at the door of every business house. While there can be no harm to a legitimate concern through having its name placed before the public, submitting to untrained minds the decision as to a necessary and proper original profit is a serious matter. It has all the damaging features of a statement of a half truth. Few of the general public have a proper conception of the expense of conducting business in these times nor of the obligations assumed by business men. No many comprehend the law of averages which requires a higher profit on goods of variable value to offset the close-to-cost prices of the staple goods."

MANY CAUSES

"The elements of buying expense in a search of the best markets, the cost of laying the goods down at distant points, the selling expense, the losses through style changes and unavoidable shrinkage of various kinds, the numerous taxes and community burdens borne by business—all these are ignored by the layman in his conception of a legitimate profit."

"Retail price-fixing is not an exact science. If one could know in advance that his buyers had accurately gauged the tastes of his customers, or that the weather is always going to be just what the garments or material were designed for, or that the sizes and styles will remain as assumed that the shopper can find just what she wants, and then fixing prices would be simply a matter of cost, plus freight, plus expense of doing business, plus the reasonable profit which any legitimate merchant would be glad to have assured."

"But you know that every store has left-overs at the end of a season which are sold at a loss in order to avoid a greater loss if held longer. You know that remnants are always going to be just what the goods accumulate, so that the counters are piled mountain-high with them on sale days when cost is lost in the right of marking. You know that merchandise becomes soiled and damaged in handling over the counters and in the display windows. You know that these are inevitable consequences of the process of distribution, and that the merchant is willing to pay an appropriate profit rate on the portion which is sold at a profit."

PHILANTHROPY VS. MOVIES

"Of course, I am referring to stores which aim to make a profit and which are not content to carry out their obligations to the community. When you find a store which is not making a satisfactory profit, it is not of much use either to the community or the community."

"At the heart of the difference between making profits and making money. A progressive business does not and cannot distribute its profits, and it cannot distribute its profits. It is the duty of the community to increase its production of goods, and the creation of more important persons for them and a better service to the community. Hence the obligation to place profits for other reasons than the mere satisfaction of the owners."

"Criticism has been made of the expense of distribution in retail stores, and of the cost of the 'kick' and 'carry' given."

"On a large volume of business in dry goods or similar lines the difference in cost is so small in percentage that most people prefer to have their goods delivered to their homes, particularly when they can be telephoned for; they appreciate the convenience of a monthly account; they want to do business in a well-ordered and pleasantly-appointed store; they feel benefited by the services of well-trained and well-cared-for salespeople; they like to see tasteful window displays. To doubt some stores do go to extremes in the way of lavished footmen and expensive prices, but they are the exception and I maintain that the position of the retailer is not a reasonable effort to give a city and its people attractive shopping places would be very small indeed if divided among all customers."

NOT ENOUGH GOODS

"The one fact that is definite and glaringly obvious is that there are not enough goods in sight to go around. Whether this is due to under production or over consumption must remain a matter of debate."

"We all know that when there is a shortage of anything there is competition for its possession out of proportion to the degree of the shortage. The Japanese advertisement urging less buying and more production as a remedy for high prices, there is room for question as to the propriety of the order in which the proposition was stated."

"For the least disturbance to industry, increased production is the most potential remedy. Owing to the fact that the high cost of doing it, one sometimes hesitates to suggest that the other fellow take the initiative and hence the second method was adopted. In order to avoid the cost of the high cost of doing it, one sometimes hesitates to suggest that the other fellow take the initiative and hence the second method was adopted. In order to avoid the cost of the high cost of doing it, one sometimes hesitates to suggest that the other fellow take the initiative and hence the second method was adopted."

"The cause and effect of labor mal-adjustments is too big a subject for me to attempt to discuss at great length. One instance, however, will suffice to show the truth of my deduction. The representative of the largest textile mill of its kind in the United States informed me recently that its payroll was now double the payroll of a few years ago, in the cost of which it had increased its production only 50 per cent. But that of the same period, this means that the mill was paying three and one-third times the former unit cost of its product. Without increasing the hours of labor nor reducing the wage scale, but with the speeding up of production only to that which was normal a few years ago, the labor cost of the product of this commodity would be increased 250 per cent."

BALANCE SHEET

"It seems to me that, striking a balance sheet labor will have more to gain and less to lose by taking the initiative."

"The account settlement of a reduction might be summarized thus: Labor's contribution: A little more of what's all. Labor's benefit: Reduction in prices on all products of labor; assurance of continued employment, or less risk of unemployment. A loss to recession in business; a loss on stocks due to deflation in prices, which may be very serious to those without sufficient reserve. Reduction in cost of the things he buys for personal use; a resumption of business on the basis of intelligent planning for future operations."

MUST BE WIDE EFFORT

"It would be a sacrifice to no good end if the people of Oakland alone reduced their purchases. It is, it would have no effect on prices at the source of production. But I am glad to note that you are planning to make yours a nation-wide movement, which if successful will lead to relief."

"Mills are already refusing more orders for next fall, or when accepted, an allotment is made of half or one-third of last season's purchases. In some cases advances as high as 20 per cent have been asked several months after orders had been accepted, the advances being attributed to increased labor and material costs. Many orders have been placed with no prices stipulated, and these will not be fixed until time of delivery. It is in such circumstances that the speculator gets his opportunity. When merchandise is sold at a profit, the consumer is direct through the retailer, or with one lay-over, the jobber's. A shortage, however, sends a new group of middlemen who take a chance on holding the goods until the mills have delivered and then they charge whatever the demand makes possible. In this way the goods often pass through three or four hands before reaching the retailer."

RETAIL COMPETITION

"And here, too, I may be excused for pointing out that the retailer, in reason of buying his merchandise before offering it for sale, is in competition with every other retailer. Whereas, under the present state of production, the manufacturer has no output before he has been asked to accept less than it can stand. It is every element in a corresponding level. The merchant will not be able to absorb a loss unless it is a matter of an emergency, being a resumption of normal production, permitting him to deal with his customers on a normal price basis at a fair profit."

"If the situation is not met with a recognition of our mutual interests and a common danger, the time will soon come when through the inability of the sheer unwieldiness of the demand to pay impending prices, a crash will come. Lacking us all, dazedly pointing our fingers at one another as the responsible party."

TWO DEATHS
HALT TRIAL
OF WHITNEY

The trial of Miss Anita Whitney for criminal syndicalism went over for Judge James G. Quinn's court today until tomorrow morning. The delay was in respect to the memory of Thomas M. O'Connor, who was Miss Whitney's chief counsel, and of Mrs. Lucille Stegemann, one of the original jurors in the case.

The afternoon of the series of fatalities and other untoward events that have marred the trial almost since its commencement was apparent even before the judge adjourned to the bench. The courtroom held an unwonted stillness. Conversations were almost at a standstill. Jurors and spectators sat with stern faces.

TRIBUTES DELIVERED

Through the tributes that were paid to O'Connor's memory and to that of Mrs. Stegemann by J. E. Pemberton for the defense, District Attorney E. W. Ross, and Judge Quinn, several of the women in the jury were moved to tears and a number in the lobby were similarly moved. Miss Whitney sat with her hands clasped in her eyes, her head bowed.

"Thomas M. O'Connor will never try another case on earth," began the tributes. "It does not seem quite fitting for us calmly to go ahead with this trial at the moment when his funeral services are being held. I move that out of respect to his memory and for the high regard in which every one of us held him we adjourn this case until tomorrow."

District Attorney Deeto was quick to second the plea. He had known O'Connor, he said, for many years, known him as "one of the most capable of lawyers as well as of the most devoted of men. He thought the adjournment should be in respect to Mrs. Stegemann's memory as well. Judge Quinn spoke for O'Connor's professional capability, his honesty, the high regard he enjoyed among the members of the bar, the fineness of his private life, the winsomeness of his personality. Mrs. Stegemann had expressed her grief and then adjournment was then granted.

When the case resumes tomorrow morning Nathan W. Coghlan will appear as Miss Whitney's chief counsel. The jury will be reduced to the court by Pemberton. He said that Coghlan assumed the position at O'Connor's own request, one of the last which O'Connor made before he died.

PNEUMONIA PROVES FATAL

Mrs. Stegemann died yesterday afternoon of pneumonia, following influenza, the disease which also struck down O'Connor. With the death of O'Connor, the jury in the case today was reduced to twelve hearings of the case at the Hotel Oakland, whence she was removed to her home Friday when she was removed from the jury by order of the court and Mrs. W. H. Haines, alternate juror, put in her place. It was reported that she was improving. Subsequently her condition took a turn for the worse. Her husband, A. L. Stegemann, a mining man at Michigan Bluffs, was telegraphed for and arrived before the death of his wife. Mrs. Stegemann was 42 years of age. The funeral of O'Connor was held this morning from his home in San Francisco. It was conducted privately, with only the closest friends in attendance. One of these was Coghlan, and for this reason he did not appear in court today.

THOMPSON RECOVERS

The recovery of H. A. Thompson, 33-year-old member of the Whitney jury, whose illness caused a two-day postponement of the case last week, permitted the whole jury to appear in court.

Today's postponement indicated that the case probably would not go to the jury before some time Friday. The prosecution had practically closed its evidence when it was deemed advisable to bring into the case as witnesses for the state John Diamond and Albert Coutts, former members of the Whitney jury, who testified in the James McHugh syndicalist trial in the same court. Coutts is a former convict, and both men have been influential in the success of the prosecution in the Whitney case. Thompson was arrested on this case and charged with conspiracy. He was released by District Attorney E. W. Ross recently returned from Los Angeles where he is said to have arranged for the attendance on the trial of Diamond and Coutts.

The difference between Schilling Tea and common tea begins at the very time the leaves are picked.

For common tea, they pick the full-grown tea leaves. For Schilling Tea, the young tender leaves.

The young leaf is rich in tea-flavor. As it grows older, tannin—the puckery taste—develops, and the tea-flavor grows weaker.

Now you know why common tea has that puckery taste, and why Schilling Tea is so rich in real tea-flavor.

Whether Oakland electrical workers and telephone operators will again join with others on the Pacific coast in a general demand for a second increase in wages is dependent on a series of meetings and conferences to be held this week. Both electrical workers and telephone operators, in their unions, have expressed the determination to thresh the matter out in session before taking action, and it is probable that conferences with the local officials of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company will be asked.

The possibility of another telephone strike developed Saturday night when the operators and electrical workers met in a mass meeting in Corinthian hall. They were addressed by James F. Noonan, electrical workers, and by Miss Julia O'Connor, national president of the telephone operators' organization.

APPEALING PLANNED

The meeting was one of a number being called in Pacific coast cities to work for the affiliation of the unions and to prepare a new wage scale. Miss O'Connor outlined the situation in the east and west and addressed her remarks to the operators. She was in active figure in the recent strike.

Noonan and Miss O'Connor came to Oakland from Los Angeles where a vote in favor of a strike was taken at a similar mass meeting. The operators in the southern city will not go out on strike for a time. No strike vote was taken in Oakland and none will be, at least until after the new demands are framed and presented. The strike will follow the Los Angeles unions say, a second refusal, within a month, by the company to concede the demand for a wage increase of from $5 to $7 a day.

COMPANY IS SILENT

The telephone company officials this morning would not comment on the action other than that they would be glad to investigate to ascertain just what the situation was.

The union returned to work after the strike in July under a paper $6 a day. They had asked for $6.50 and, it is said, the demand now to be made will be $7. The union's demands are said to be the crux of the present situation. No action to be taken by operators will be of a sympathetic nature, if deemed necessary.

The local telephone operators were given an increased wage scale last July. Beginners were given $12 on a scale that runs up to $19 for those who have served five years. The salaries of superintendents and other officials were increased from $22 to $32 for three years of service.

At the headquarters of Electrical Workers' Union No. 232, in the Pacific building, it was said that the meeting of Saturday night was not called to precipitate the possible strike action. It was said, however, that a new scale is in consideration and will be included in a demand to be made soon and that a strike vote had already been taken by the members. Arrested for Driving
Machine While Drunk

Peter Dosageci was arrested last night at Fruitvale avenue and East Fourteenth street on a charge of driving an automobile while drunk. He was picked up by Patrolmen P. W. Burbank and P. J. Peterson after he had driven at high speed down East Fourteenth and narrowly missed running down several pedestrians. Thomas Scorzafra and Harold E. Brown, who were in the machine with Dosageci, were also arrested. They are now held in the city prison.

The difference between Schilling Tea and common tea begins at the very time the leaves are picked.

For common tea, they pick the full-grown tea leaves. For Schilling Tea, the young tender leaves.

The young leaf is rich in tea-flavor. As it grows older, tannin—the puckery taste—develops, and the tea-flavor grows weaker.

Now you know why common tea has that puckery taste, and why Schilling Tea is so rich in real tea-flavor.

Taming Wild Mustangs in West

Anderson Finds Girl
In Chorus Worse
Than Cayuse

Shades of the past—Here is G. M. (Broncho Billy) ANDERSON, as he appeared in the old Niles days.

Whenever he feels the need of rest and quiet G. M. Anderson, "Broncho Billy" is coming back to Niles canyon to train wild mustangs and act the hero role in five or six movies a week.

Sanctified by life, he says, would be peaches and cream and like a camp chair on a broad porch looking with the existence he is now living in New York. To train a mustang, he says, is to live on the edge of the cactus and slacks his throat on alkali water, he says, is not the easiest of tasks. It requires nerve, skill and a certain spirit of recklessness that a few to discipline an aggregation of young women between the ages of 18 and 20, says the producer of the "Fringes of 1920," is the ultimate test of a man's tact and courage.

Here is the explanation of the man who used to make Essanay film stories of the wild west at Niles. "Over a span of ten years I was one of the leading cinema operators and I probably have as many notches on my celluloid six-shooter as any character in chaps and sombrero now projected upon the screen. Life in the movies, making as many as six two-reelers depicting life in the sagebrush sections within a week, proved too rigorous an occupation for me, and so I folded up my six-shooter and more talkative form of entertainment would soothe my frayed nerves. Now I am ready to admit that I was probably in error when I told the Los Angeles unions that I was in the girl-doodled form of entertainment."

"The young woman of the chorus is irresponsible and irresponsible. She is immune to discipline and fearless of authority. She has more fancied grievances than a tramp-drummer, thinks himself the most maligned man and abused individual in a musical play."

"The most unpopular thing with the young women of my congress of frivols is the posting of a notice on the call board announcing a rehearsal for 11 o'clock in the morning. Were I to request them collectively to leap from the roof of the theater the walls of grief and woe could not be louder. And they are still grumbling when 11 o'clock comes around. They haven't had time to eat their breakfast! They hazard the opinion that they will probably succumb from fatigue and hunger before they have been on the screen minutes. They marvel at the cruelty and lack of human sympathy on the part of the management. But once they swing into it, they are forgotten in their own outbursts of their immediate neighbors."

"Irresponsible and irresponsible! That sums up the chorus in two words. If ever I feel the need of quiet and relaxation again I am going back to the movies. The mustangs may be wild and vicious, and the older grays may be treacherous and crafty, but they never complain about his costumes, and any one of them would as soon scratch his bit at daybreak as at twilight."

Dug 50 Clams; Cost Him 50 Cents Each

Fourteen clams formed the metaphorical bone of contention about which a police court case was fought this morning before Judge Mortimer Smith.

They were very expensive clams, indeed, for George Plum, defendant in the case, costing him $25.

It was shown that Plum had violated the fish and game laws of the State, inasmuch as he had in his possession at one time 50 clams dug from the sands of the Alameda beaches. The law allows only 35 clams to be dug at one time.
